Ukulele play time

Come to St George's Church Hall, Cranley Gardens, N8, at the bottom of Muswell Hill to try out a sing-song session for free with the Ukulele Man, John Ramsey. The sing-songs with guitar and ukulele accompaniment, which take place every Monday morning at 9.30 and 10.30am, are for everyone from babies up to pre-school children. They include Ribbon-Time where the children dance with different coloured ribbons to the Rainbow Song, Hunt the Teddies, where they can march with their teddies to a teddy marching song with bubbles and instruments. The first session is free and afterwards it is £4 per adult. The Ukulele Man is also available for children's parties. Call 020 8826 0737 or visit johnny2ramsay@hotmail.com.

DECLARE WAR ON NITS

There they are again. Nits! You shampoo and comb and think the job's done. A few days later they're back. Sometimes, despite diligent care, they just won't go away and stay away. It's estimated that nearly half of all four to 11 year olds get nits every year and many parents find shampoo-type treatments unsatisfactory.

Mum, Dee Wright and her team of "lice assassins" are dedicated to clearing the heads of children all over north London, from The Hairforce Lounge in Primrose Hill. Parents can bring their children to have their head cleared. Home visits can also be arranged. "We clear the nits by hand so it's a totally natural, chemical-free service," says Dee "We do it for those parents who struggle with cracking it themselves be it because of time, energy, patience or skill."

Dee guarantees that your child's head will be nit free in three sessions. There are four days in between each visit; the timings track the development cycle of the louse. And the lice assassins use a range of equipment most of us don't have in the home including lice hoovers, special lighting, magnifying visors and specialist tweezers.

A check up costs £20 and to clear requires three sessions costing £30 each. For an appointment, call The Hairforce hotline on 07720 838 271 or email: help@thehairforce.co.uk.
